KMG Global Crew

From underwater operators and assistants, to drone pilots, rope access specialists, and safety support, the KMG Global Crew directory is a highly detailed and unique system, providing production with specialist crew suggestions from around the world.

How it works

Crews signed up to KMG Global will have a private profile with information on their skills and experience readily available for KMG only – this is not a publicly accessible directory. When a production company approaches KMG requiring crew with a specific skill set / in a geographical location that matches a crews profile, KMG will forward on their details to the production company. KMG is involved no further, and the production then gets directly in touch with crew.

What information KMG Global requires

The KMG Global Crew platform operates on a custom designed app. Subscribed crew will have a log in with detailed information on their qualifications, skills, experience, location, references, etc. The key features of this system are the detailed skill criteria, and calendar where crews can update the locations of their work bookings – this enables shoot shares to be explored for productions looking to work in the same area around the same time.

How KMG Global will use the information

Where a production company is looking for a specific skill set within a certain location KMG will search the directory for profiles that match the criteria. KMG will send the contact details of matching crew and relevant information on skill sets, experience, references etc, to the production. Where crew matching is unsuccessful, or no crew are found. Every time crew details are sent to a production, a notification is sent to the crew that reads only 'Your details have been forwarded to a production company'

KMG referral benefits – Global Crew receive 1 MONTH FREE on their next KMG Global Crew membership every time they:

- Forward a work enquiry to KMG – this might be a job they are unable to take, or a production they are working on needing more crew*.
- Suggest a new crew member to join KMG Global Crew who becomes part of the directory. Just send KMG an email and cc them in! They will also receive a discounted membership through the recommendation.

Please note if KMG directed the production to Global Crew member previously for that job, or is already in touch with the production about the same job requested, the discount will not apply and Global Crew member will be notified.*

KMG Global Crew-Call Outs

Where production are looking for something more specific than detailed on Global Crew profiles, KMG may send call-out emails to relevant crew looking for particular skills / experience. Where crew reply, their details will be passed to the production.
